>Usui Household

Misaki Usui, wife of Takumi Usui an intelligent and rich doctor, stands in the kitchen of their home preparing some tea for her husband. She puts the water in the kettle and waits for it heat up. She leans up against the counter and rubs her belly.

One and a half years after their marriage they found out Misaki was pregnant and now they're expecting a new addition to the family. Only three more months to go and they will be able to meet the newest addition of their family.

She goes to take the milk out the fridge since the water is almost finish boiling. Misaki opens the fridge and takes out the milk and then shuts back the fridge door. She begins to pour the into a cup she washed previously when something surprises her.

"Ahh!" She yells surprise dropping the milk container along with the cup that slipped off the counter.

"What's wrong?" Takumi asks coming over to his wife from the living room once he heard her scream. "Are you hurt?"

Misaki just stares at him.

"Misaki you're scaring me. I'll get the doctor and- wait I'm a doctor, let me see. Where does it hurt?"

"I thinkâ€¦I think the baby just kicked me," She explains in shock. Misaki had never felt it before.

"The baby kicking hurts ok I'll-THE BABY KICKED!?" Takumi exclaims looking down at her stomach.

Misaki nods her head slowly. "Our baby just kicked."

Takumi beams excited. Now he knows how his patients feel. "I want to feel it too," He admits placing his hand on her belly. He waited until he feels it kick. "Wow! Are little one is growing more and more."

"Yes!"

"I'm so happy Misa chan that I can just take you and-What was that?" Takumi questions removing his hand from her stomach. He felt something hit his hand which was on her stomach really hard.

Misaki chuckles. "Our baby is trying to say don't tease mommy or else."

Takumi chuckles along with her. "For now I'll leave you alone as requested but once their born no one can stop me."

Misaki sighs. "Please don't be like you're father," She whispers softly.
